2018 Sanitary Sewer Repair Rehabilitation

Beginning the week of October 8, 2018, Ypsilanti Community Utilities Authority (YCUA) will be making repairs to numerous sections of the sanitary sewer system. The work involves lining the sections of pipe, similar to inserting a stent into a blood vessel, followed by application of repair materials to inside of each manhole at the upstream end of each pipe that is lined. The work will be completed by Inland Waters Pollution Control, Inc., a contractor for YCUA.

Most of the sections of sanitary sewer included in the project are located in or adjacent to neighborhood streets with minimal adverse impacts expected to the traveling public. However, there will be work conducted on sanitary sewers within Rawsonville Road between Textile Road and Grove Road as well as Munger Road between Michigan Avenue and Morgan Road. The work on these sections of the system will require lane closures and will likely result in some delays to vehicular traffic.

Work on Rawsonville Road is scheduled to begin on October 8, 2018 and should be completed by October 10, 2018. Work on Munger Road is currently scheduled to start November 6, 2018 and should be completed by November 8, 2018. If you have any questions regarding this project please call YCUA Engineering Manager Scott Westover at 734-484-4600 extension 220.
